Trip Narrative/Comments (about skills and conditioning of students):
Becky's guild description is accurate. On approach to summit need to stay on south side of west ridge. Route finding near the summit can be tricky, but once you near the ridge get on the crest of the west ridge. We had difficulty right near the summit we approached the summit block directly from the South, this approach is possible but I would considered Class 4 w/ exposure. On descent we were able to locate the "Correct" west ridge route. Trail conditions to the small lake are generally good although it is very rocky.
